Example

This Example is intended to help you compare the costs of investing in the Global Equity Income Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund’s operating expenses remain the same. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class A	$695	$3,770	$6,098	$9,737
Class C	$303	$3,427	$5,874	$9,713
Class I	$102	$3,208	$5,620	$9,548
Class R6	$84	$3,188	$5,601	$9,538

You would pay the following expenses if you did not redeem your Class C shares:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class C	$203	$3,427	$5,874	$9,713

Portfolio Turnover

The Global Equity Income Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or “turns over” its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the Example, affect the Fund’s performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund’s portfolio turnover rate was 12.97%.

Principal Investment Strategies

The Global Equity Income Fund invests primarily in equity securities of U.S. and foreign companies. These companies generally have market capitalizations (market value of publicly traded equity securities) greater than $3 billion at the time of purchase. The Advisor typically focuses on companies with dividend yields above that of the Morgan Stanley Capital International World Index (“MSCI World”), either currently or based on forecasted dividend levels over the next three to five years. A foreign company is determined to be “foreign” on the basis of its domicile, its principal place of business, its primary stock exchange listing, and/or the source of its revenues. Under normal market conditions, the Fund invests at least 80% of its net assets (plus any borrowings for investment purposes) measured at the time of purchase in equity securities. Equity securities include common and preferred stocks, warrants and rights. The Fund will invest in at least three different countries, and invest at least 40% of its assets (measured at the time of purchase) outside of the United States or, if conditions are not favorable, at least 30% of its assets (measured at the time of purchase) outside of the United States. For example, if the Advisor determines that non-U.S. markets are generally overvalued compared to U.S. markets, the Fund may invest up to 70% of its assets within the United States. Up to 30% of the Fund’s total assets, measured at the time of purchase, may be invested in securities of companies located in emerging market countries (including frontier market countries).

Brandes Investment Partners, L.P., the Global Equity Income Fund’s investment advisor (the “Advisor”), uses the principles of value investing to analyze and select equity securities for the Fund’s investment portfolio. When buying equity securities, the Advisor assesses the estimated “intrinsic” value of a company based on data such as a company’s earnings, cash flow generation, and/or asset value of the underlying business. By choosing securities that are selling at a discount to the Advisor's estimates of their share of the company's intrinsic business value, the Advisor seeks to establish an opportunity for long-term capital appreciation. The Advisor may sell a security when its price reaches a target set by the Advisor, the Advisor believes that other investments are more attractive, or for other reasons.

Principal Investment Risks

Because the values of the Global Equity Income Fund's investments will fluctuate with market conditions, so will the value of your investment in the Fund. You could lose money on your investment in the Fund, or the Fund could underperform other investments.

Principal risks of the Global Equity Income Fund are as follows:

- Currency Risks – Because the Global Equity Income Fund invests in securities denominated in foreign currencies, the U.S. dollar values of its investments fluctuate as a result of changes in foreign exchange rates. Such changes will also affect the Fund's income.
- Foreign Securities Risks – The performance of foreign securities depends on the political and economic environments and other overall economic conditions in the countries where the Global Equity Income Fund invests. The interrelationships of the global economies, volatility or threats to stability of any significant currency, such as occurred in the past with the European Monetary Union, or significant political instability of any country or region, may affect other markets and the risk of an investment in the Fund.
- Emerging Markets Risks – Emerging markets may involve greater risk and volatility than more developed markets. Some emerging markets countries may have fixed or managed currencies that are not free-floating against the U.S. dollar. Certain of these currencies have experienced, and may experience in the future, substantial fluctuations or a steady devaluation relative to the U.S. dollar. Certain emerging markets are sometimes referred to as "frontier markets." Frontier markets, the least advanced capital markets in the developing world, are the riskiest markets in the world in which to invest. Frontier markets have the least number of investors and investment holdings and may not even have stock markets on which to trade. Investments in this sector are typically illiquid, nontransparent and subject to very low regulation levels as well as high transaction fees, and may also have substantial political and currency risk.
- Mid and Small-Capitalization Company Risk – Securities of mid-capitalization and small-capitalization companies may have comparatively greater price volatility and less liquidity than the securities of companies that have larger market capitalizations and/or that are traded on major stock exchanges. These securities may also be more difficult to value.
- Stock Risks – The values of the Global Equity Income Fund's investments fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies and general stock market and economic conditions.
- Value Securities Risks – The Global Equity Income Fund invests in value securities, which are securities the Advisor believes are undervalued for various reasons, including but not limited to adverse business, industry or other developments, or are subject to special risks, or limited market understanding of the issuer's business or industry, that have caused the securities to be out of favor. It may take longer than expected for the prices of these securities to increase to the anticipated value, or they may never increase to that value or may decline. In addition, value securities, at times, may not perform as well as growth securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time.
- Value Style Risks – Value style of investing may cause the Fund's performance to deviate from the performance of market benchmarks and other managers for substantial periods of time.
